

REAL ESTATE ADVISORY COMMITTEE TERMS OF REFERENCE

1. INTRODUCTION

PRI advisory committees provide opportunities for signatories to convene, share knowledge and collaborate on responsible investment. These committees help the PRI Executive deliver practical tools, events, and support with respect to the implementation of the Six Principles on a global basis.

The Real Estate Advisory Committee (REAC) is a voluntary body comprised of PRI signatory organisations. This committee's primary role is to provide support to the PRI Executive in the design, delivery, and dissemination of real estate guidance products to help asset owners, service providers and investment managers implement the Six Principles. Where appropriate, the committee may also advise or support other programmes being delivered by the PRI Executive. The committee acts as an advisory body and does not have decision-making power in the matters on which it advises.

2. MEMBERSHIP

COMPOSITION

The committee should ideally be comprised of 12-18 signatory organisations including one chair. Each organisation is represented by an individual who provides expertise in real estate investing and associated ESG practices.

The PRI Executive convenes the committee, led by relevant expertise within the PRI.

The PRI Executive selects the committee members and strives to ensure the committee has a balance that reflects PRI's signatory base across a range of factors including (but not exclusive to): geography, diversity, equity and inclusion, job title, signatory type and size.

TENURE

On joining the committee, an organisation occupies their position for three calendar years. Each organisation is expected to be represented by one individual for the duration of that tenure. The organisation can transfer the role to another individual in the event of changes to employment or other exceptional circumstances. Any changes should be agreed with, and approved by, the PRI Executive member who sits on the committee.

At the end of their tenure, each member organisation can reapply for an extension of one calendar year.

The chair is chosen by the PRI Executive from existing committee members. Members who become chair hold the position for two calendar years.

The PRI Executive has discretion on all decisions regarding the tenure of members and chairs.

APPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS

The PRI Executive will run and manage a fixed recruitment window for all committee vacancies. This will normally be in the final quarter of each calendar year.

The PRI Executive will publish a current list of all committee members on the PRI website.
